

Wishes Turn Into Bikes For Big Brothers and Big Sisters

Last week, students participating in the School Based Mentoring Program with Big Brothers and Big Sisters received a wonderful surprise. In conjunction with training sessions held in Mason for employees of Check N Cash, students were rewarded with over 30 brand new bicycles for their participation in the training. The primary focus of this training session was to improve teambuilding & interpersonal skills among both employees and students. “ We are very fortunate to have businesses in Warren County that support our mission and allow our children to see that working together is how we are able to grow into a stronger community,” says Sheeleah Prince, Public Relations Specialist for Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Warren and Clinton Counties.

“ It was definitely a moving experience because as a staff member, we become very connected to the children we serve. To witness such success with an event of this magnitude gives me an overwhelming sense of gratitude” says Jamie Harper School Based Mentoring Case Manager.

Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Warren and Clinton Counties is very excited to work with other businesses and organizations that support the mission. “This is what it is all about honestly, working together to improve relations among those in the community. By participating in events such as this, we create a higher standard of civic responsibility of businesses and residents of Warren and Clinton Counties,” says Prince.
